DuoShare Certifies POS Check Conversion with Vital Processing Services®

Dallas, Texas, November 3, 2003: Dallas-based software services company DuoShare, Inc., has been certified with Vital Processing Services for Point-of-Sale Check Conversion through the Vital® network. With the addition of this certification to the DuoShare Payments™ module, DuoShare is able to provide its customers with the ability to convert paper checks into electronic checks at the point of sale, reducing deposit preparation time, and enabling three levels of check verification and guarantee.

Electronic checks are sent to clearing house and settlement systems automatically, making check processing more efficient. Check conversion at the point of sale can also provide verification of funds electronically, reducing fraud risk and speeding up sales transactions. In addition, electronic checks expedite end-of-day closeout, as well as the transfer of funds.

DuoShare PaymentsSM services are available to its customers from any computer with Internet access. By certifying for Vital's POS check conversion service, DuoShare continues to increase its ability to provide key business processes in a cost-effective Internet delivered format. Stephen Buck, Vice President of DuoShare, is pleased with the addition of check conversion to DuoShare Payments. "This interface enables DuoShare to process a high volume of payment transactions, and saves our customers money in the process. It's a real win-win proposition."

Along with DuoShare Postal Address Quality ServicesSM, DuoShare Payments continues DuoShare's philosophy of providing high value, high quality data and transaction processing services. For more information, call DuoShare or visit the website at <http://duoshare.com>.
